The theory now advanced that the fall of the Laocina Company retaining wall at Biddeford on Sunday night, was due to the explosion of a dynamite cartridge placed there by some one with intent to wreck the new steel structure on Main street, bridge. The Biddeford end of the latter rests on abutments adjoining the wrecked wall. Will Cleveland Abandon It?

A despatch to the New York Herald from London states that the President in his forthcoming message will confine himself exclusively to the currency question. Of course this is a matter of conjecture as the President is apt to keep his intentions to himself, but it is true that he will simply furnish more conclusive evidence of the hypocrisy of the Democratic party in connection with the tariff question. It has been apparent for some time that the Democrats are anxious to get a different issue before the people, and indications are not lacking that the change of front is not inspired in the White House by the entire approval of the President. One thing is certain, namely, that the men who are to-day loudly proclaiming that the tariff question has been settled are therefore not very sincere before the people, as the very man who has stood closest to the President in the tariff reform crusade.

Of course Mr. Cleveland is well aware of the fact that the tariff has not been formed in the sense that he has used the term as a stepping stone, toward the goal of his mission. He has stated in a letter in which he applied most uncompromising terms to the bill that he "would never because it was an 'incomplete' and 'abortive' that 'abandoned' Democratic principles. Does he now propose to confess the absolute hypocrisy of the tariff reform campaign? That would be the only interpretation possible if he should confess such a message as suggested by the Herald. The tariff is a band-aid on the great central issue in the next Presidential contest. The existing law, as amended, is at the bottom of the trouble in this country today. The people understand and cannot be misled from their purpose by the blinding of their eyes as a result of the tariff reform crusade. If Cleveland now desires to have the tariff question decided by the people, he must be consistent. It is impossible to reconcile the tariff law passed by a Democratic Congress with the Democratic pledges made to the people in that election.

Approved in England.

The New York Herald's third term for Cleveland is not meeting with much success in this country, but it is not so in England. With an exceptional exception, confined to the London press, the leading papers here devoted to Democracy do not look with any degree of favor on this movement, but the London press generally strikes hands with the Republican supporters of the Cleveland team.

In the recent Democratic defeat the party was routed, but the prestige of the President was increased rather than diminished. It is generally the case that the Democratic will rally around Cleveland and will lead them to victory in the next Presidential contest, the Republicans having no striking policy to attract popular sympathy.

They can be no question of Cleveland's popularity in England. He has earned the right to regard John Bull as a most ardent advocate. It is a matter of fact that the London press is in a position to return to Great Britain have reached a magnitude that by the testimony of the leading financial papers has proved the very "salvation" of the English industry. When the Times remarks that the Republicans have "no striking policy to attract popular sympathy" it is not in any sense a compliment.

Mr. Cleveland will be out of his office March fourth, 1897, and then Cleveland can breathe upon him in his own way, but the American people positively refuse to keep him in office after that date to build up Great Britain's industrial empire at our expense. The time has come when Cleveland must be removed from office.

The Latest from Lord Dunsen. The New York Tribune says: Lord Dunsen's dinner speech at Cardiff nothing is essential to his publication in the London Herald, but it is not without value as a complete disclosure of the mind and character of the man. It is a very excellent article, and it is a very excellent article, and it is a very excellent article.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Farmers Make Fresh Appeals to Lord Salisbury.

Political Disorders in Madrid—Royal Visitors Coming to England in Spring.

London, Nov. 23.—(Special cable letter.) The cool contentment with which Prime Minister Salisbury, when speaking last Tuesday at the meeting of the National Union of Conservatives at Brighton, treated the proposals of the Protectionists relative to the imposition of a tariff on wheat, oats, barley and hops has keenly disappointed the agriculturalists, who trust that the Government will not be so easily satisfied.

His explicit declaration that a tariff for protection in any form was impossible has not deterred the agricultural interests from making fresh appeals. Yesterday a deputation from the National Association of Home Growers waited on Lord Salisbury and protested that unless a tariff was imposed on foreign grown hops, the English hop industry would soon cease to exist. Again the prime minister was content to brush the matter off as a protectionist ploy.

As the hop growers, he asked, what would be the feelings of the wheat growers, if they should be asked to pay a tariff for protection? The government, he added, had no intention of placing a tariff on any article of general commerce. It was seeking by other means to relieve the agricultural distress.

Lord Salisbury refrained from alluding to the details of the government scheme, but it is no secret that the plan will be the one announced in this country's newspapers last week, that is to say, the government will subsidize the hop growers by making over to them a fund of £1,000,000, the proceeds of which will be used to purchase hops for the hop growers.

Another deputation of delegates from most of the agricultural societies, about to visit the Earl of Aberdeen, president of the Board of Agriculture, to demand that all duties and taxes which are now admitted into the country from foreign and colonial countries be lowered before shipment, or the movement will be fruitless.

Excitement in Madrid Shows No Signs of Abatement.

Madrid, Nov. 23.—The excitement growing out of the charges laid by the Marquis of Caceres against a man named Juan de los Rios, who is accused of having been the author of the assassination of the late King, is still unabated.
